Have You Caught the Fever?

A good many women in Washington have caught it—this new fever that comes in epidemics usually in the autumn and the spring. Any woman—unless she be as sensible as a Mithras—is liable to its attacks, but it usually hits the woman who has money to spend, the woman who travels about a little and who has a liking for dress.

Where do you catch this fever? Oh usually from some smartly dressed woman from out-of-town, an afternoon tea, at the dinner-dance, at the Fort Myer drills, or perhaps at the races, if you go. One of these women wears a new kind of neck fixing with a particular dash. Her hat is on at a bewitching angle. Her boots somehow look trimmer, neater than your own, and, being a true daughter of Eve, you envy her. Then someone says "How smart that Mrs. Dasher dresses. She has just come from New York."

New York! Charmed word! You have caught the fever. You long to have your neck fixings look just as smart. You wish that your millinery gave you the air of distinction that the other woman's does or you are fairly green with envy at the way her boots fitted. You, too, must have New York clothes.

Well, first you plan to make a little trip up to the metropolis. You coax your husband, or your employer or your mother, or whoever it is who has a word or so to say about your goings and comings, to co-operate with you in making that New York trip possible. You take your earnings—they have been hard to save—and off you go.

Or if you can't get to New York yourself you have some friend who is going and you pour into her hands those earnings with the direction to spend them all for finery. Maybe no friend is going. Then you read the New York advertisements in that favorite woman's magazine of yours and you have an added attack and send a money order to the Fifth Avenue shop that has tempted you with their very clever advertisements.

Of course there are disappointments. The newcomer from New York—would you believe it?—was just exactly like the bargain-counter products you saw down on G street a week ago. The only difference was that when it came from New York it cost $3 and the G street price was $2.50. And the hat; well, you just have to admit it. It doesn't look at all dishing on your head. It was probably the way that smart New York women wear her hair that made the effect. The boots that you ordered were smart, to be sure, but they cost 35-cents too much for you to afford.

So you New York fever has run its course, and you are probably immune from future attacks. But if you had been sensible you would never have fallen a victim.

When you come to think of it, the Washington shops buy from the very same wholesale dealers as the New York shops. Many of our establishments, in fact, have branches where their agents can keep in constant touch with changing New York styles. The very day that the New York retailer has an opportunity to buy the novel styles so has the agent of the Washington store. Perhaps the Washington agent orders a slight difference in the finish or the trimming, just to give his goods a look of distinction, but in the cut and style and finish it is all the same. The only difference is that when these things are unpacked in the Washington stores and placed on the counters or in the cases the tags that go with them are marked quite often at a lower price than are the tags that will be placed on the identical goods seen in the New York stores.

That is about the only difference, and it is a natural one, because the rents and wages and overhead expenses are higher in the little congested island of Manhattan than they are in our own fair city. When you stop to think of this, you are in a good way to escape this New York fever.

Pie Companies Merge.

One of the largest pie companies in the United States was formed in Washington yesterday when the Connecticut Pie Company, Wisconsin Avenue and O Street northwest, and the Copperthite Pie Company, 2289 M Street northwest, merged under the name of the Connecticut-Copperthite Pie Company.

Meatless sausages, composed chiefly of rice, and wrapped in oiled paper, are made in Java.

MEAT SCARCITY
BOOSTS PRICES

Shipments from West and North Fewer—Spring Vegetables Reasonable.

SUPPLY IS ABUNDANT

Strawberries Sell for as Low as 25 Cents—Watercress New Product on Markets.

Higher prices for meats and advanced quotations in a few vegetables were announced in the markets this week. Fruits, eggs, poultry, and butter held firm in price during the last seven days.

Lamb quotations were two and three cents higher yesterday than a week ago. Lamb chops sold for 35 and 40 cents a pound, stewing lamb for 18 and 20 cents, less of lamb, 25 and 30, and lamb shoulders for 22 and 25 cents. Beef prices were unchanged, the wholesale figure being higher by $1 and $1.10 a hundred pounds. Steaks advanced from 17 and 30 cents to 18 and 31 cents.

Scarcity of Western products and light receipts from Northern markets are given as the cause of the advance of meat prices. The season also had its effects on the markets. Grain supplies are decreasing, with no replenishment in sight for several weeks.

Vegetables at Low Prices.

Spring vegetables are the thing in produce markets. No new varieties were received during the week, but most of the products were from new gardens cultivated since the passing of Southern winter weather. In fact, so abundant are spring vegetables that their prices are lower, in many instances, than the old stuffs carried through the winter.

New carrots are selling for 10 cents a bunch, the old product at 40 cents a peck. Spring onions are quoted at three bunches for 5 cents, and Spanish onions at 50 cents a dozen. There is still a wide difference in the prices of old and new potatoes, the former retailing at 25 cents a peck and the latter at 75 cents. Brussels sprouts have disappeared from the markets. Water cress is a new product on the market and is selling at 10 cents a box. Strawberries are down to 25 and 35 cents a quart. Fresh lima beans are scarce. They are quoted at $1.50 and $2 a quart.

Fish prices dropped during the week, with the exception of salmon, receipts of which are light.

Quotations given yesterday, which will be a good indication of the markets to-day and tomorrow, are as follows:
